

A COURTYARD IN BUENOS AIRES AND CORDOBA

"Social Responsibility, Borges and Transcendence" was the theme of a Courtyard of the Gentiles in Buenos Aires from 26 to 29 November 2014.

Before becoming Pope Francis, Bergoglio had described him with his accustomed colourful language as "an author before whom we should take off our hats". Not by chance in 1964 did the young Jesuit teaching literature in the school of the Immacolata di Santa Fé do all in his power to bring him to his classes to teach his students.

It is not easy to summarise the importance for Argentina of Jorge Luis Borges. The writer of "Ficciones" shaped the cultural identity of his country and its population. To explore this writer is to enter into the depth of Argentine identity.

Hence the idea of the Pontifical Council for Culture to cross over the Atlantic again. And bring the Courtyard of the Gentiles to Buenos Aires to try and tell anew one of the aspects that is most debated and fascinating about this agnostic writer: the transcendent dimension of his works. Cardinal Gianfranco Ravasi participated at many events gathered around a central theme: an effort to understand the deep spirituality of one of the most agnostic of Argentinian writers.

The initiative was carried through together with the Foro Ecuménico Social, which has for decades engaged in intercultural and interreligious dialogue and the Fondazione Borges.
